Spooky Nights' set up is ahead of schedule, thanks to the Fairgrounds, for allowing the commission in early, and all the volunteers that are helping. Donations are coming in, water from Walmart, and Stop and Shop, and donations from Frito -Lay. Presale ticket sales are very strong this year. Tickets will also be sold at the gate for 10.00 per ticket. Thursday at 11:00 am the Arc of Quinebaug and the Senior Center will be invited to the Fairgrounds for a free hayride. Security has been taken care of with troop D available if necessary. East Brooklyn Fire Company will handle the Bonfire, and Mortlake will handle all medical issues.

This will be the last year for the hayride portion of Spooky nights. There will be a meeting for 2017 Spooky Nights within a few months after the close of the 2016 Spooky Nights to begin the planning for 2017.
